Wyeth Collection at Butler through December 16, 2007

Andrew Wyeth (b. 1917) is a legend in American realist painting. This exhibition, drawn from the Marunuma Art Park Collection (Japan), includes watercolors and drawings, and was first seen at the Cincinnati Art Museum (Ohio) and later at the Gilcrease Museum (Oklahoma). The show includes the studies for the Wyeth's master work Christina's World, along with other subjects centering around the Olson family. This show was sponsored by National City Bank with additional support from Dr. Robert Baker. (See page 7 of this publication for more information.)

71st Area Artists Annual Show

The Butler's 71st Area Artist Annual will be held January 12 through February 3, 2008. This competition includes all media and is open to artist who reside within a forty mile radius of Youngtown. All work in the show is original, and was completed within the past two years. This year, the show was judged by well-known watercolorist and art educator Thomas G. McNickle. A preview party for Butler Members and participating artists will be held on Friday, January 11 at the Butler in Youngstown. Butler Members and participating artists will receive an invitation by mail. Call 330.743.1107, ext. 210 for further event information.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 30 • 7-9 PM (YOUNGSTOWN)

By Invitation Public Sale Days - December 1 & 2

The Butler's annual craft show fundraiser helps to support the Institute's educational programming. The show returns to the museum in Youngstown this year, with public sale days set for December 1 & 2. Call 330.743.1107, ext. 112 for information.

The Parlor (above) and Performance Hall (below) of Butler North have been refurbished and these facilities are both available for private events. Call 330.743.1107, ext. 122 for rental guidelines.

Butler North Refurbishment Project Continues

Thanks to a generous grant from the Beecher Foundations, preliminary work has begun leading up to the installation of an elevator in the Institute's Butler North education center (formerly the First Christian Church). This important improvement will allow for total handicap accessibility in all areas of the three level facility.

In the past few months, many other improvements to Butler North have been accomplished. A stage has been built in the performance/exhibition hall (former sanctuary), and new lighting has been installed to improve that space. Additional restrooms are being constructed, and heating and cooling systems are being analyzed and updated.

To donate to this project, call 330.743.1107, ext. 125.

Butler Receives Ohio Arts Council Funding

The Butler Institute of American Art has received a grant from the Ohio Arts Council (OAC) to assist the museum with its operating expenses. The Sustainability Grant of $59,393 will be activated in the upcoming fiscal year. The Butler has received OAC funding annually for more than 25 years.

According to Butler Director Dr. Louis Zona, "These much needed funds from the OAC will assist the museum in its day to day operations, and will help to pay ever increasing utility bills. We are most grateful."

Recently, a film crew from MSNBC (seen above) visited the Butler to do a program on the museum's new state-of-the-art video surveillance system, designed by Acuity-VCT of Cleveland, Ohio. The new system features motion activation to monitor Butler Collection Galleries. The purchase and installation of the security system was funded in part through a grant from the Youngstown Foundation.

COLLECTION

The Butler's prestigious American Western collection is strongly represented with seventeen images appearing in the current film release of "The Assassination of Jesse James by the Coward Robert Ford" starring Brad Pitt. The Butler images (not the actual paintings) were loaned to the production company for a onetime use, and were reproduced in the film as a part of the motion picture's set design.

Butler collection images appear in many books and art catalogues, and have been seen in other Hollywood films in the past. Chuck Close's Georgia from the Institute's collection appeared in the film "Legal Eagles," and more recently, the Butler's Edward Hopper masterpiece Pennsylvania Coal Town was featured in the Sean Connery movie "Entrapment." For information about usage fees for Butler images, contact the museum's Rights and Reproductions Department 330,743.1107, ext. 116.

Charles Sheeler's Steam Turbine (above) will be loaned to the Des Moines Art Center (Iowa) and to the St. Louis Museum of Art (Missouri).

Works from the Butler's permanent collection continue to tour the nation, spreading goodwill and information about "America's Museum." Upcoming collection loans include: Everett Shinn's Dancer in White Before the Footlights to the Nassau County Museum (New York); Janet Fish's Feeding Caitlin to the Wilson Museum (Vermont); George Inness' Hazy Morning Montclair, NJ to the Clark Art Institute (Massachusetts); William Blakelock's Twilight to the Sheldon Art Gallery (University of Nebraska) and National Academy of Design (New York City); Julian Alden Weir's The Oldest Inhabitant to the Trust for Museum Exhibitions for a tour of 6-8 venues in the United States; Charles Sheeler's Steam Turbine to the Des Moines Art Center (Iowa) and the St. Louis Museum of Art (Missouri); and Elihu Vedder's Nile Journey and Robert W. Weir's St. Nicholas to the Hudson River Museum (New York).

EXHIBITIONS

June 24 through 2007

James Rosati: Sculpture (Youngstown)
Renowned sculptor and teacher, James Rosati (1911-1988) created a body of work that resonates with the 20th century. These imaginative abstract structures calm rather than agitate, and are like a voice that is quiet, clear, and firm in a noisy environment. This exhibition was organized in cooperation with Peter Rose Gallery, New York City.

November 11 through December 22, 2007

Richard Sulea (1943-2003): A Tribute (Salem)
This exhibition will present works by a beloved Salem artist who recently passed away. Sulea's work was noted for its rich realism and focus upon architectural detail as subject matter.

September 30 through December 30, 2007

Joe Vitone: Color Notes on a Wide Field (Novak Gallery, Beecher Center wing)
Panoramic photographs of China and other landscapes by an internationally noted photographer is included in this show.

Line-O-Life, 2007, inkjet print, 32 x 33 inches

September 30 through December 30, 2007

Steven McCallum: Works on Paper

(Mesaros Gallery)

A group of works of geometric abstraction on paper by a former Youngstownian will be featured in this exhibition.

Solstice Begat, light, glass, stainless steel, 13' x 16' x 10", 2004.

November 11, 2007 through February 10, 2008

Stephen Knapp: Lightpaintings

(Beecher Center Wing, Bermant Gallery)

Using light, glass, and stainless steel, Stephen Knapp creates lightpaintings by separating white light into pure color. Stainless steel grounds the surface and its reflections ground the planes of light.

EXHIBITIONS

September 21 through December 16, 2007

Butler Installation of Andrew Wyeth Watercolors & Drawings

Andrew Wyeth Watercolors & Drawings:

Selections from the Marunuma Art Park Collection (Japan)

Andrew Wyeth (b. 1917) is America's premier realist painter. This exhibition, first seen at the Cincinnati Art Museum (Ohio) and the Gilcrease Museum (Oklahoma), presents thirty years of Wyeth's fascination with the Olson family in Cushing Maine. The exhibition of 114 works, drawn from the collection of the Marunuma Art Park (Japan), has had unprecedented attendance in its final venue at the Butler Institute. Thanks to a grant from National City Bank and additional support from Dr.

Robert Baker, this exhibit is on view at the Butler free of charge

November 18 through November 29, 2007

Giuseppe Leone: Photographs

This exhibition consists of black-and-white and color images taken by a Sicilian photographer. The first part of the exhibition includes photographs inspired by the Baroque architecture of Sicily's Noto Valley, a region declared a World Heritage Site by UNESCO, which is situated in southeastern Sicily, among the towns Catania, Siracusa, and Ragusa. The second part of the exhibition features photographs of religious festivals that take place in Sicily throughout the year.

PEOPLE/EVENTS

Butler Great American Art Auction Success

October 18, the Butler Institute hosted a Great American Art Auction in the museum's Beecher Court. Artists from across the region and the nation, along with businesses and private collectors, donated items for both a silent and live auction. Over 125 people attended the fundraising event. (For a list of donors, see pages 10 and 11 of this publication.)

Proceeds from the very successful Great American Art Auction will provide funds to complete a new comprehensive, scholarly Butler collection catalogue, to be published in time for the Institute's 90th anniversary celebration in 2009.

Guests (above and below) survey the 110 silent auction items donated by regional artists and other generous local contributors.

PEOPLE/EVENTS

September 20, the Butler hosted a preview party to celebrate the opening of the exhibition Andrew Wyeth Watercolors and Drawings: Selections from the Marunuma Art Park Collection (Japan). Attending the event were twelve representatives from the Marunuma Art Park, along with the museum's curator Otoyō Nakumura (all seen above left). Additionally, the Butler was honored by the attendance of the owners of the collection, Mr. and Mrs. Katsushige Susaki, and Andrew Wyeth's only grandchild, art historian Victoria Wyeth (all seen above right).

Others attending the event were curator Mary Landa from the Brandywine River Museum (Chadds Ford, PA) and curator Rebecca Posage from the Cincinnati Art Museum, the organizing institution for the traveling exhibition.

AbbeyRoad Rocks the Museum!

November 10, the Butler in conjunction with Y-103 FM presented the sixth annual AbbeyRoad concert in the museum's Beecher Court. Each year, this popular event raises much needed funds for Butler free education programs.

Thanks to the following sponsors; United Community Corp., Home Savings & Butler Wick and Burger Travel Service. Additional support was granted from the Better Business Bureau, AM Party Rentals, Taylor-Winfield Foundation, Winslow's Café, WFMJ-TV 21, DiRusso's Sausage, The Vindicator, Dean & Renae Economus, E. J. Rossi & Co. & Bill Bresnahan. Also a very special thank you to Southwest Airlines.

Special thanks to Alex Draime and the musicians who played the warm-up set before the concert.

Butler North (above), located next to the Butler in Youngstown, is home to the Institute's education classes. Three newly refurbished, fully equipped and well-lit classrooms are currently being used by Butler instructors to teach a variety of classes to both children and adults. Scholarships are also available for youngsters who qualify. For a complete schedule of classes, visit buterart.com or call 330.743.3630. (Art classes make great holiday gifts!)

Recently, the Butler presented an art class designed to meet the special needs of recently bereaved children. The class, conducted by Butler art instructors Edward Hallahan (above left) and Jacki Mountain (above right), used art materials and projects to create a means of expression and comfort for the youngsters. For more information about the museum's special art programs, contact the Butler's education class department at 330.743.3630.
